Findings among Harris and Trump supporters

Our questions on changes in voter engagement were asked separately for Harris supporters (those who said that they intend to vote for Harris) and Trump supporters (those who said they intend to vote for Trump). Given the smaller sample sizes, we provide results below for the overall AAPI registered voter population, and for voters by gender, age, and nativity. We also provide self-rated measures on how each respondent describes their levels of engagement on each activity over the last 6-month period.

Methodology

The 2024 AAPI Voter Survey from AAPI Data and APIA Vote was conducted between September 3-9, 2024 by NORC using NORC's Amplify AAPI® Panel for the sample source. The survey was offered in English, Chinese dialects of Mandarin and Cantonese, Vietnamese, and Korean and was administered in two modes depending on the preference of the respondent provided during panel recruitments: 1) self-administered by the respondent online via the Web; or 2) administered over the telephone by a live interviewer. The surveys with a live interviewer were only conducted in English.

Survey respondents are Asian Americans, Native Hawaiians, and Pacific Islanders 18 years of age or older, with oversamples of citizens and registered voters. The data have been weighted by ethnicity, education, Census Region, age by gender, ethnicity by gender, and ethnicity by nativity.

The total number of AAPI registered voters surveyed was 1,166 and the overall margin of error is +/- 4.7 percent.

The unweighted number of respondents and margins of error (in parentheses) for subpopulations of interest are as follows:
